The rationale for budgeting

A budget cannot make an inadequate income adequate.

The purpose of a budget is to tell your money where to go rather than asking it where it went.

Planning a budget enables you to answer the following questions:

1. Do I want to take control of my life, including my money?
2. Am I ready to accept personal responsibility for my circumstances now and in the future?
3. Am I prepared to control my spending or will I let my spending control me?

Having a budget enables you to answer the following questions:

1. What sort of health are my financial affairs in?
2. Do I have a positive or negative cash flow?
3. What is my net fiscal worth?

Keeping to a budget enables you to answer the following questions:

1. Where will my money go?
2. Can my income rise without my expenditure rising to meet it?
3. How much can I afford to borrow or to save?

Having no budget or plan enables you to answer the following questions:

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.

Budgeting involves

1. Planning in advance.
2. Sticking to the plan
3. Short-circuiting blow-out by initiating cost saving measures.

How to prepare your budget

The success of a family budget depends largely on five things:

1. The care and accuracy in the preparation of your initial budget
(REALITY)
2. The progressive updating of the budget as income increases or semi-permanent expenditure variations occur
(Revision)
3. The inclusion of insurance and savings
(Safeguards)
4. Active support by each member of the family
(Co-operation)
5. Rigid adherence to the constraints of the budget
(Self-discipline)

The three R's of planning a family budget are:

1. Realistic planning

2. Recording

In addition to knowing what you spend, to establish your financial situation you will need to know the following:

a) Income

b) Expenses.

c) Assets

d) Superannuation

e) Insurance

f) Investments

g) Other assets such as the value of the house, the value of the car, the value of any collections such as artworks, coins, stamps, antiques and the like. Personal items, such as furniture or jewellery, are not included.

h) Loan details

i) Credit cards

j) Hire purchase agreements

k) And finally, other debts

3. Revision

It's not a real budget if you can't budge it!

Sample budgets

Your income, the area you live in, and the choices you make in the way you live will greatly impact the reality of these figures to your situation. Therefore I suggest that you ignore my actual figures and concentrate more on the form.

What you should know about income & expenses

A cash flow statement tells you what comes in and where it goes. In order to have a positive effect on your budget, you need to:

1. Take responsibility for your financial decisions.
2. Take control of your spending habits.
3. Take positive action to reduce the amount of budgeted expenses, where possible.
4. Seek counselling from a financial adviser, if necessary.

What records to keep, and where

Keep the following information on a single sheet of paper

- Bank account and Brokerage account numbers.
- Credit card numbers.
- Tax file numbers.

Keep the following in a special drawer

- Bank statements.
- Brokerage account statements.
(Possibly the monthly statements for the current year and the yearly statements for the past seven years.)
- Insurance policies: Homeowners, Car, Life insurance.
- Tax returns for the last seven years.

Keep the following in a safety deposit box with your solicitor or at your bank or in a fireproof safe at home

- Car registration.
- Divorce papers.
- IOUs.
- Leases.
- Marriage licence.
- Share certificates.
- Title deeds to the house or unit.

- Mobile Phone details, Serial numbers of expensive equipment
- Motor Vehicle information/insurance/road service Association
- Passport numbers and expiry dates, Citizenship certificate numbers, dates and where important papers are stored
- Pension, Health Care Card, & other relevant numbers

Borrowing money

Personal loan checklist:

- What is the interest rate?
- How long will it take to pay the loan off?
- What will be the total cost of the loan?
- Can I afford the weekly repayments?
- If I get a wage rise can I pay the loan off faster
- Are there any penalties if I fall behind with my repayments?
- Do I really need this item?

(Paul Clitheroe and Chris Walker, Money Making, Viking (Penguin Books Aust), Victoria, 1995 p40)

Ways to save money

1. Have a plan to take control of your money (your budget)
2. Save little, save often, but don't plan to save cash
Billy rose, in the Readers Digest of January 1969 said something which still has an element of truth in it. He said, "Never invest your money in anything which eats or needs repainting."
3. Avoid punting and silly risks (Ducks lay eggs; Geese lay wagers

A Gambler's Lament:

" Invest $1 and lose 50%. You now have 50 cents.
Invest 50 cents and earn 50%. You now have 75 cents.
Try it the other way around
Invest $1 and earn 50%. You now have $1.50.
Invest $1.50 and lose 50%. You still have 75 cents!"
"Two equal returns see you losing money."

“Your chances of winning Lotto (are) around 7,059,052 to 1.”

(Paul Clitheroe and Chris Walker, Money Making, Viking (Penguin Books Australia), Victoria, 1995 p11)

When it comes to investing in shares, "If it looks too good to be true, it is!". Seek professional advice!

4. Spend and borrow appropriately -
 - Plan to own a home debt free
 - And don't try to keep up with the Joneses

Here is a definition I would like you to remember. Keeping up with the Joneses is the act of forfeiting the things that we want to waste the time we that can't afford to buy the things that we don't need with the money that we don't have to impress the people that we don't like. (Lionel Hartley, ©1984)

- Beware of the pitfalls of credit cards

5. Minimise taxes by:
 - keeping accurate records
 - Researching how and where you can save
 - And by being scrupulously honest this year to avoid penalties the next.

6. Protect your assets by:
 - Insuring appropriately
 - Protecting your assets from thieves, moths and rust
 - And by having an up-to-date will.

7. Obtain and act on advice if you need it - we have mentioned this earlier.

8. Give systematically to others (I)
For the Christian, this involves putting God first. An arresting interchange takes place between God and His people is recorded in Malachi 3:8-11 "Will a man rob God? Yet ye have robbed me. But ye say, Wherein have we robbed thee? In tithes and offerings. / Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye have robbed me, even this whole nation. / Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it. / And I will rebuke the devourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruits of your ground; neither shall your vine cast her fruit before the time in the field, saith the LORD of hosts."

Jesus told 33 parables and more than half of these, 19 in fact, were against the love of money and worldly treasures.

Mahatma Ghandi once wrote that there are seven sins in the world. They are wealth without work, pleasure without conscience, knowledge without character, commerce without morality, science without humanity, politics without principle, and worship without sacrifice.

9. Give systematically to others (II)

I would venture to suggest that we are judged not by what we give away but by what we keep, because giving is the thermometer of love. And we can give to our God also through our giving to others. When we systematically reach out and give to others when a return is not expected it is an investment which pays a return unexpectedly.

10. Save using non-fiscal budget behaviours

- recycling
- Join a barter co-operative or simply advertise, as we did, "Wanted to swap, fibreglass canoe for small dingy", or as I read in the paper once, "wanted to swap, one double bed for two single beds and one pram"
- Use elbow grease - Hang clothes to dry rather than using an electric dryer when practical, wash dishes by hand (I enjoy the company when my wife and I do it together), using hand tools builds healthy bodies and saves electricity.
- Maintain equipment in good repair
- clean the clothes dryer filter after each use,
- oil your sewing machine regularly,
- check car oil, water & tyres as well as topping up the fuel,
- run a cleaning tape through your video recorder and cassette tape deck occasionally to remove the build-up of tape particles and dust.
- And empty the vacuum cleaner often.
- Share the chores - use a roster if practical. The less fatigued you are, the more rational your spending and also the less likely you will be to want to rush out and buy junk food rather than prepare a family meal.
- Conserve energy resources - water, electricity, oil & gas, with particular attention to home heating, cooking, and food storage. Your local council, water board, and electricity suppliers can supply you with free brochures to help in these areas.

Wise shopping

Always take a list when you go shopping and stick to it. A suggested guide is on the next two pages. If you take children when you're doing the food shopping you may pacify them through extra spending.

If you are able to carry it home, shop once a fortnight instead of once a week and buy in larger quantities because the less you go into a supermarket, the less often you are likely to be tempted.

Never shop when you're hungry or having the cravings of depression, pregnancy or PMS.

Taking a cut lunch to work will save money and may be healthier.

Buy less disposable items by using cloth handkerchiefs and serviettes for yourself and fabric nappies for baby instead of the paper substitutes.

If you can avoid travelling out of your way, check the specials list each week in the paper and buy up when something is reduced in price.

Perishables are usually available at cheaper prices at the end of the day or week. The same goes for end-of-season lines - but be sure to check for expiry dates as it's not a bargain if it's out of date by the time you want to use it. If you can store them or freeze perishables, buy when you hear there is something that might force a price increase, such as drought, bad weather, or a freight rate increase.

Buying home (generic) brand products and loose fruit and vegetables and meat rather than pre-packaged can be a saving.

Hunt for bargains at flea markets, trash and treasure, and car boot sales, but be careful of auctions unless you are very disciplined. To save money on books, records, and videos check out your local public library and borrow instead of buying.

Avoid using your credit card for groceries, rent, or anything else you won't have in hand in a month's time when the credit card account comes.

How do we calculate income?

1. Salary/wages/pensions
2. Bonuses
3. Dividends
4. Partnership Interest
5. Rental Income
6. Savings Account interest
7. Child support - Child Endowment, maintenance
